Working on the project, the team has taken. Deconstructed documents, project documents, and papers relating to. after all. After the document, the correspondence concerning. After the documents, the correspondence concerning the project, the. Alongside the documentary work, we have conducted interviews and focus groups on the project with teachers, students, and parents, to find out how we can better support their education and careers. Projects A. Studying and reporting on project proposals The goal of the project is to reduce the time and cost of transport of students and teachers by taking advantage of the network (the Internet). B. The transport of students and teachers through the network 1. To reduce the time and costs of transport by taking advantage of the Internet 2. To establish efficient transfer of information and documents 3. To introduce new technology to the management of transport The project is built upon two main pillars: A. The reduction of capital, the network, or the provision of the facilities of school and bus station B. The circulation of news, project proposals, contracts and programs We have seen that the implementation of the project is feasible. The project would reduce the budget for transport by reducing the cost of travel with transport and the need for new facilities. In the COBIT Model of the PRINCE2 framework, the control processes or risk management activities are separate from the project activities. The document 'Project Control' is the responsibility of the Project Office rather than the Programme Office. . The document 'Project Management' is the responsibility of the Project Manager or Programme Manager in the Project Office, rather than the Programme Manager in the Programme Office. Organisation As well as the document 'Project', the Programme Office also has other documents associated with the programme and implementation of a project. These include project briefing templates, proposal and programme development documents, control procedures for the project, and the Project Office manual. Other Documents The documents below are used to support the project: Project Cost - This document provides a measure of the total cost of the project. It includes the cost of: The project work being contracted for from the Programme Office Project budgets being spent by the Programme Office Projects being contracted for through the Programme Office .
