A search on Google leads me to 1 place that only produces PDFs and 1 place that only supports "classic forms". Neither seems to have a JS version, so a PHP version might be a solution. Any suggestions? (don't want to integrate an JS lib and have the users using a browser that don't support JavaScript and submit the form via IP address) A: From what I can see on your website you generate the PDFs on the PHP side. Then you can use Adobe Acrobat to convert the PDF to a CSV file, and then you can do some SQL querying to pull e79caf774b
